

PRES. SPENCER OF SOUTHERN INSTANTLY KILLED THIS MORNING

Right Hand Man of J. P. Morgan Who Did Much Toward Merging Roads of South—Reported Several Others Killed—Fifteen Passengers Badly Injured in the Crash.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The Southern railway issued the following announcement today regarding the wreck in which President Samuel Spencer of the Southern railway was killed:

"The Southern railway passenger train No. 33 left Washington last night late by reason of the congested holiday traffic. About 6:30 o'clock this morning, at Lawry's, Virginia, on a portion of the road protected by the block system, the train was stopped for light repairs to a coupling. Passenger train No. 37, following No. 33, and being given a clear block, ran into the rear of No. 33, resulting in a serious wreck. Present advices indicate that the collision was probably due to negligence of the operator in allowing No. 37 to pass the block.

"President Samuel Spencer of the Southern Railway company, and a party of friends were in the officers' car on the rear of No. 33, and President Spencer was killed and 15 other passengers were seriously injured."

It is reported here that Watt Davis, manager of telegraphs of the Southern, who was in the special car, was also instantly killed. A number of other officers and prominent capitalists, who were in Mr. Spencer's car, met death when the crash came. President Spencer is the best known of the Southern railway magnates, and had under his direct control one of the largest railroad systems in the world. He was the right hand man of J. Pierpont Morgan, and did more toward merging the railroads of the south into the great Southern railway system than any other man.

Washington, Nov. 29.—It is now stated that besides President Spencer eight others were killed and 15 hurt in today's wreck.

GILLETTE ON WITNESS STAND SEVEN HOURS

MAN PHYSICALLY AND MENTALLY EXHAUSTED BY TRYING ORDEAL.

GILLETTE STUCK TO STORY

That Grace Brown Stood in Boat and Threw Herself Into Big Moose Lake.

Herkimer, Nov. 29.—Chester Gillette is in a partial state of collapse in the Herkimer jail today. Unnerved by the fierce lashing of the prosecutor's cross examination which laid bare the inner story of the poor factory girl's relationship with him and made plain the motives which guided him just before the girl's death, Gillette broke down when he returned to his cell last night. He rested all night under the influence of powerful sedatives. His counsel may offer a plea of murder in the second degree. District Attorney Ward said today that he would not accept it.

Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 29.—With heavy head and unsteady gait and with eyes that were bleared and weary, Chester E. Gillette presented a spectacle of physical and mental exhaustion when he stepped from the witness box. He was the star witness in his own behalf on the charge of having murdered his sweetheart, Grace Brown. Gillette went through one of the most trying ordeals that a witness ever experienced. Surrounded by an almost inexhaustible mass of circumstantial evidence that seemed to point to his guilt, he took the stand in his own behalf and for nearly seven hours strove to bear up under the strain of cross-examination and to describe to the jury how Grace Brown died. In response to questions from his own senior counsel, A. M. Mills, he declared that Grace Brown stood up in the boat and threw herself into the lake.

STOKERS ON STRIKE

Blue Jackets Say 60 Men Refused to Work but Officers Decline to Discuss Matter.

Newport News, Va., Nov. 29.—Blue jackets ashore from warships in harbor say that about 60 stokers are in the brig aboard the armored cruiser Tennessee because they refused to work when that vessel was put under forced draught while the Tennessee and Washington were conveying the battleship Louisiana bearing the president home from Panama. Officers ashore decline to discuss the matter and it is impossible to get aboard the Tennessee. Another report is that the trouble occurred on the cruiser Washington, which was supposed to have dropped behind during forced draught run because of an accident to machinery.

TWO HUNDRED DEAD AND HURT BY EXPLOSION

TERRIBLE DISASTER OCCURS IN GERMANY NEAR TOWN OF ANKEN.

ROBURIT PLANT BLOWN UP

Two Tremendous Explosions That Curroffed Houses and Shattered Many Windows.

Berlin, Nov. 29.—Near the town of Witten, Westphalia, a "roburit" factory blew up, killing and injuring many persons. The number of dead will exceed 50.

All windows in the adjacent town of Anken were destroyed by the concussion, and many houses were unroofed. No house escaped injury. The inhabitants of the immediate neighborhood fled, anticipating another explosion in the vaults of the factory. It is now estimated that 200 persons were killed or wounded, but the exact number has not been ascertained. Many dead bodies have been recovered and 80 of the severely wounded persons have been conveyed to hospitals. The work of rescue now going on is attended with the greatest danger from the possibility of a renewal of the explosions. There were two tremendous detonations, heard throughout the entire surrounding industrial region.

Roburit is an explosive of high power, composed of salt petre, ammonia, sulphur and other ingredients. It is not easily exploded by a blow, and it can be burned with safety in the open air. Its power is second to that of dynamite.

HORSE BREEDERS HOLD MEETING

New York, Nov. 29.—At a meeting of many horsemen presided over by H. K. Devereux, of Cleveland, O., it was decided to form an organization to be called the American Association of Trotting Horse Breeders. The avowed object of the body is the uplifting of trotting sport, and with this end in view, it was decided to hold an annual horse fair in the north, south, east and west of this country in successive years. An executive committee was appointed and it will draft a constitution and bylaws for the organization. The association will be incorporated probably under the laws of Virginia. Senator J. W. Bailey of Texas, was elected president.

J. Handy Moore and Dr. J. M. White fell from a buggy on the county road near Hickman, Ky., yesterday and were found dead, having been drowned by the rains.

MRS. CAREY HELD

Woman Committed to Prison to Await Action of Coroner's Jury in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—Mrs. Mary Carey of this city, who was arrested on suspicion of having caused the death of two of her children, her husband and two other persons by poison, was given a hearing before a police magistrate and committed to prison to await the action of the coroner's jury. Mrs. Carey and her family formerly resided at Centerville, Pa., and came to this city about a year ago. The police officials claim Mrs. Carey held insurance policies on the lives of all those whom she is suspected of killing, and for the purpose of securing this money, which aggregated about $1,000, the crimes were committed.

CHIEF KILLED.

Desperate Fight Between Pulajanes and Volunteers.

Manila, Nov. 29.—Governor Curry of the island of Samar reports a desperate fight between Pulajanes and volunteers near Albalade Nov. 26. Pedro De la Cruz, an outlaw chief, was killed and 20 of his followers were wounded. The remainder of Cruz's band were dispersed. Cruz was second in command of the Samar bandits. He was recognized as a desperate character and had been fighting since 1896. He refused to surrender to the Americans. His followers believed him to be invulnerable. Governor Curry says that the end of outlawry in Samar is near.

Negro School Burned.

East St. Louis, Nov. 29.—A large brick building which was leased last week by the board of education for a negro school was destroyed by fire, and there is evidence that prejudice against the establishment of a school for negroes caused the building to be set on fire. The destruction of the building marks the second building leased for a negro school that has been burned within the past two weeks.

SCHMITZ ARRESTED AT TRUCKEE, CAL. FOR EXTORTION

He was given an enthusiastic reception in the course of his speech he declared his innocence and asserted that he was coming on an opportunity to vindicate himself. Although mayor he was accompanied by a deputy sheriff on his arrival. He was only nominally under arrest, as bail in $25,000 was arranged by wire and his release order was signed before Schmitz arrived.

Truckee, Cal., Nov. 29.—Mayor Eugene Schmitz, of San Francisco, who with his wife is returning from a trip to Europe, was arrested here by Deputy Sheriff Knox, on a charge of extortion, found by the grand jury in San Francisco. The indicted official seemed to feel his arrest keenly. Mrs. Schmitz seemed entirely unnerved at the arrest of her husband. The trouble came to her eyes and she appeared to be very much worried. Mayor Schmitz did not emerge from the drawing room where he was closeted with Abraham Ruef.

NOTABLE SPEECH

Made at Thanksgiving Eve Dinner of the American Colony in Paris Last Evening.

Paris, Nov. 29.—At the Thanksgiving eve dinner of the American colony in Paris a notable speech was made by Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, who made reference to the present growing demand for the limitation of the enormous armaments now weighing down the countries of Europe and the threat of the powers to take the initiative in this direction. The speaker declared that this initiative naturally fell to America. The baron declared that if President Roosevelt had the courage to submit a clear proposition along these lines to the League National, France, Great Britain and Italy would support him and that even Germany, contrary to the popular belief, would welcome the proposal.

SECOND CLASS MAIL

Postmaster General Questioned as to Advisability of Increasing Rate in This Class.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Postmaster General Cabelton and Second Assistant Shallenberger presented to the congressional postal commission a mass of statistics bearing upon the cost of carrying second class matter. The postmaster general was questioned as to the advisability of increasing the rate on this mail, but declined to express an opinion on that point. He did think, however, that there should be amendments to the laws that would make possible a better administration of the postal service. The commission will not take any more testimony except to clear up doubtful points when they present themselves. An adjournment was taken until next Monday.

INDICTMENTS IN FEDERAL COURT AT ST. LOUIS, MO.

SEVENTY-TWO COUNTS FOUND AGAINST WATERS-PIERCE OIL COMPANY.

ACCEPTANCE OF REBATES

And Discrimination in Legal Freight Rates on Shipments of Oil Alleged.

St. Louis, Nov. 29.—As briefly telegraphed in these dispatches to the Advocate yesterday, two indictments with a total of 72 counts were returned by the federal grand jury against the Waters-Pierce Oil company, charging the company with having accepted rebates and discriminated in legal freight rates on shipments of oil in violation of the Elkins act.

Under two provisions of the federal laws, each shipment of a car load of oil at less than the legal rate, is a separate offense and punishable under the Elkins act by a fine.

One of the indictments containing 21 separate counts, each of which alleges a separate and distinct violation of the law, charges that the Waters-Pierce company, at stated times shipped carload oil from St. Louis to Alexandria, La., at less than the lawful rates, using the lines of the Missouri Pacific railroad. It is charged that up to July 1, 1906, the Missouri Pacific continued to carry the shipments of the Waters-Pierce company at the rate of 25 cents per hundred pounds, while its competitors were compelled to pay the 30 cent rate. Some of the shipments of the Waters-Pierce company were carried, it is alleged, at 23 1/2 cents as against the 30 cent rate charged competitors.

The second indictment contains 51 counts. Each count alleges that a carload of oil was shipped by Waters-Pierce over the Missouri Pacific lines to Alexandria, La., thence over the Southern Pacific to 11 different towns in Louisiana at less than the rates filed by the roads with the interstate commerce commission. These shipments, it is alleged, covered a period of three years, during which time the Missouri Pacific and Southern Pacific had in effect a joint rate to the points specified, which had been duly filed with the interstate commerce commission. These rates, it is charged, were conspicuous and well known and no shipper competing with the Waters-Pierce company had any reason to expect that there was a lower rate than the joint tariff that had been filed with the commission.

INOCULATION FATAL

Washington, Nov. 29.—A dispatch was received at the war department from Governor General Smith of the Philippine islands, saying that the deaths of ten Bilibid prisoners, inoculated with anti-cholera serum, are believed to have been caused by the act of a visitor in displacing a bottle of plague culture with the anti-cholera serum. The accident occurred during the absence of Governor General Smith. The dispatch adds that further inoculations have been prohibited until examination and tests of serum are made.

POPE PIUS RECEIVES ARCHBISHOP HARTY

Rome, Nov. 29.—Pope Pius received in private audience Archbishop Harty of Manila. The archbishop expressed his satisfaction with the existing relations between the church and the civil authorities in the islands. He said: "The government keeps its place, never interfering in religion and the church keeps her place and enjoys the fullest liberty. There is mutual harmony with excellent results in the shape of peace, good will and perfect understanding in all important matters. The people are contented, but they are paying the penalty of ten years of Indianism by much poverty, and this in spite of the fact that the natural riches of the country are immense and eventually will lead the islands to a great future."

SUPPRESSED THE EVIDENCE SAYS AFFIDAVIT

GOVERNMENT AGENT'S CHARGE AGAINST THE GENERAL LAND OFFICE.

ACCEPTANCE OF REBATES

How Tracts Were Secured

Salt Lake City, Nov. 29.—According to report, indictments will not be returned by the federal grand jury, which has been investigating coal land frauds, until after the close of the investigation being conducted by Edward E. Clark, interstate commerce commissioner. F. M. Allison, attorney for the Rio Grande system, in arguments before Commissioner Stark, charged that most of the testimony being brought out was for the purpose of influencing public opinion against persons who might be indicted by the jury.

Colonel P. S. Sowers, a special agent of the land department, was again called as witness and told of his inability to induce the land department to act in matters relating to coal lands. Witness told of numerous letters written to the land commissioner and of the submission of affidavits bearing on land frauds and suggested that investigations be made, but his letters were not answered. He testified he was asked by the department to tender his resignation. In response he wrote to the commissioner of the general land office calling attention to the gross laxness in probing the coal land scandals in Utah, but he received no reply. Sowers resigned from the service but later was reinstated.

Sensational testimony was given by Michael A. Myendorff, a special agent of the government, who began an investigation of the coal lands frauds in Utah and who before he had completed his investigations was transferred to London and then to Portland. Mr. Myendorff presented an affidavit in which he told of efforts made by influential men to induce him to cease his investigation of the coal land frauds. He named Senators Warren and Clark of Wyoming, Commissioner Richards of the general land office and G. F. Pollock, chief of department B, interior department, Washington. Myendorff alleged that in Denver Senator Warren told him he ought not to go after the Union Pacific and incur the enmity of that company. He charged that the land department at Washington had suppressed evidence secured by him. In two charges which he filed against Robert Forrester, of the Utah Fuel company, a Gould corporation, he alleged no action was taken. The witness further alleged that George F. Pollock, chief of the department B, interior department, instructed him to destroy four affidavits which he had secured against the Union Pacific Coal company. Mr. Myendorff's affidavit goes at length into the methods of the coal companies in securing coal lands by entries through dummies who transferred their rights to the corporations. Myendorff's affidavit alleges that on one occasion 77 men were taken into offices in the Union station at Denver before W. I. Gifford, agent of the Union Pacific, and signed their names to powers of attorney, relinquishments and affidavits which were used to acquire title to coal lands in Wyoming. Some of these men, it is asserted, signed fictitious names. The man who signed received $4 each for their trouble. The Myendorff affidavit included affidavits made by a Denver saloonkeeper named Bartello, and Victor Lebaud, an expressman of Denver, stating how a wagonload of these men had been picked up in Denver and driven to the offices in the Union station. After they had signed the papers Bartello collected $1 from each man for his trouble in getting them together, each man retaining $3.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICES

Splendid Sermon Delivered Thursday Morning by the Rev. T. L. Kiernan at First Methodist Church—
Excellent Musical Program by First Church Choir.

The Union Thanksgiving service was held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the First M. E. church, corner of North Fourth and Church streets, and was attended by a congregation representing nearly all of the churches in the city. A masterful sermon was delivered by the Rev. Thos. L. Kiernan of Plymouth Congregational church, and a fine musical program was furnished by the regular choir, assisted by Miss Hall, soprano, of Wheeling, W. Va., and a quartet composed of Misses Mabel Phillips, Elsie Hirschberg, Messrs. Ernest Wall and Homer Sparks.

The sermon delivered by the Rev. Mr. Kiernan who took as his text Deut. 32:27, is given below in full: "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms."

The text is one of the finest and loftiest utterance of Hebrew religion. It is vain thinking indeed to imagine that any expression that we can give to our confidence in the Divine order and care will ever go beyond the grateful and triumphant words: "The eternal God is thy refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms."

How appropriate and inspiring was this great assurance under the circumstances in which it was first given.

The children of Israel had need to be reminded of the eternal refuge and support when they were about to loose the presence and guidance of the man who had been their leader and companion in their toilsome and troubled march through the wilderness for forty years. Moses was leaving them, but leaving them with God. They were homeless, and their national future was uncertain and hidden; but tomorrow, as today, from generation to generation, they would be in the presence and care of the Eternal. In the arms of the everlasting power and peace. Originally given by Moses as a promise to his people, and to inspire hope as to their national continuity and destiny, yet we are not wrong in supposing that in the strength of his assurance he himself met the last, solemn and supreme moment of his life, and in dying conquered death.

When he uttered the words of a text, the premonition was strangely clear that the hour of his departure had come. To be alone in that hour—alone with nature, alone with God—was his strong wish. And as he leaves the society of his fellows, the noise of the camp for the quiet of the mountain top, from which he is to come down again no more, we hear him saying not only to his people, but to his own soul, "The eternal God is thy refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms."

"And this sublime utterance breaking at first from the strong and calm soul of the dying Moses, and in later days seized upon with such spiritual avidity and wrought into Hebrew Psalm, and Christian hymn, and prayer, goes down I am persuaded into the deep places of innumerable hearts, and utters their undying wish, and hope, if not their sure faith—the faith they have verified in their own experience. These ancient words give immortal expression to a universal and indestructible need of humanity. They were true before they were written, and they would be true if they had not been written in the sacred book of religion.

We have needs in our life that had no place in the life of Israel—needs that are related to a higher social and intellectual development but the deepest needs of the human soul are common and universal, and know neither today nor yesterday. Sooner or later every son of man and every nation is taught the lesson of his own insufficiency of his need of a strength he does not find himself.

We need nothing so much now as to be mastered by the assurance of the faith to which Moses gave expression to in the text.

The true religious interpretation of the past is that what God was once to men He is now and always. Not only to one race or generation of His children, but to all races and generations he is near and equally near. True religion is not the memory of what God once was in the far past, or the hope of what he may be in the far future, but the consciousness and experience of His presence and power in this present moment. The truly religious man is just the man to whom God is no mere name, tradition, or opinion, but his one sure refuge and support—the man who has proved in his own experience that God is here and now to the children what He was long ago to the fathers. No less mighty to protect, uphold, and save, and no less abounding in loving kindness and tender mercy.

Assembled here today in response to the call of our President, and in harmony with the time-honored customs of our fathers, let us give thanks. But for what? What shall be the ground of our thanksgiving? Let us give thanks for health and strength, for happiness in home, and nation; for abundant harvests gathered; for commerce extended, bringing to us the abundance of plenty and pestilence.

ence. And if there are those in our midst who have not been the recipients of blessings vouchsafed to their fellows they can at least give thanks, whatever their circumstances, that "The Eternal God is their refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms."

I am sure that all of us are grateful indeed for the restoration to health, of the pastor of this church, thankful to see his face once more and to know that he comes back to his work with renewed strength and life and purpose. Passing beyond these more local and personal reasons for thanksgiving, I desire to suggest grounds for national gratitude, and I find the first in the restlessness of the age. Every age has been characterized by unrest, but ours pre-eminently. Man comes into the world with a capacity for knowledge and authority, with marvelous possibilities and latent powers that are capable of almost infinite development.

He finds himself surrounded by a world of mystery. Himself its greatest mystery. He hears the command of the infinite. Be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth and subdue it. Hence the unrest. It is caused by man grappling with the mysteries and problems of life.

God saying to him overcome the world harness its forces, utilize its riches, work out your own destiny and salvation, for I am working in you and through you, though you may not know it. Chafing under his limitations He pushes back the horizon and makes himself a larger universe. First thinking the earth the center of all things, and the stars but brilliant tacked against the sky a few miles away, he turns his telescope heavenward and ceases not until he has seen the vastness of the universe, and with instruments of his own creation he weighs the moon and measures the distance from star to star, from sun to planet. He tells us that the stars have their youth and middle life and old age. Ours is a planet in middle life. He beholds a sun whose diameter is half the distance from earth to its sun.

Man has been directing his attention to the great world, things that grew, the secrets of the oceans, the marvelous hidden forces that are operating in the earth. All these he must know. And so the intellectual struggle goes forward, and it must go forward triumphantly. It must conquer ignorance, and prejudice. It must solve the mystery for God's world is here to be known and used. None dare say to the man of intellect thus far and no farther. Rest and believe, above all things cease to think. You cannot stop thought and investigation, you could as well stop God's Atlantic. Truth must triumph. Prejudice must go. Ignorance must go. Superstition must go. Ideas and theories long cherished must go. Creeds and platforms, hoary with age, must go if need be, for truth goes marching on. Governments topple and fall, thrones and kingdoms decay and pass away.

In every sphere and department of life enters this spirit of investigation and nowhere is it so prominent as in our beloved land. This, then, is the cause of our unrest. To some the strife and confusion of tongues may mean chaos. But in reality it is an eternal law and on its operations depends the progress of the age. For its presence in our midst let us give thanks, for behold back of this eternal restlessness is the Eternal God, our refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms.

Another ground for thankfulness lies in the greatness of the opportunity presenting itself to our nation. Every nation of every age has had its opportunities for increasing its usefulness. The times have always been big to earnest men, but the opportunity presenting itself to us as a nation is strategic beyond description.

Consider the unifying forces that have been at work for ages in the world. The blackest pages in church history are those pages describing the war between science and Christianity. That strife is forever ended. The three great factors in civilization stand today in closest harmony—Philosophy, Science, Religion.

No longer is the church of God separated by creeds and confessions. These have taken a second place in the life of the church. The church is not divided. We are not only talking of union, but are united for one common purpose. We may truthfully sing we are not divided at one body we are one in hope and charity—and the significant fact that all nations have opened their doors to the gospel of Jesus Christ. The missionaries of the Cross in India have no more faithful supporter than the British government. And not in many years has the cause of missions been championed more eloquently and successfully than by the illustrious and distinguished though twice defeated presidential candidate.

Four nations were until quite recently self contained, content, happy and apparently shut off from the action and interaction of the world movements—China, Korea, Japan and the United States. Now they are all dominant and dominating forces, not only in Asia but in the entire political evolution of mankind. Korea is no longer a hermit nation. China has swayed in twin the spell of the past, in a most fundamental way abolishing forever the old system of examination in the ancient classics and adopting the test of modern proficiency.

leadership in the moulding influence in Asia, and constituting himself leader of the Orient. The United States, through our beloved President has risen to the beneficent position of foremost peacemaker. We have taken a position from which we cannot recede. We are peculiarly fitted to lead in the world's civilization.

Great Britain has her possessions scattered throughout the world. America, with a few exceptions, has all her possessions at hand. Europe is keeping an armed truce—burdened with the bondage of war. There are many countries in Europe not so large as several of our states, yet compelled to pour their millions into the maintenance of armies and navies. It is as if Texas were compelled to arm against Oregon, and Ohio against New York. How awful the bondage. Now because we are free from this terrible yoke we should enter heartily into the leadership of the nations. We need to remember that with all opportunity comes responsibility. Because of our enormous wealth, our numerous acres, the intelligence and unity of our liberty loving people, we must lead.

Some people were not conscious of our greatness or influence in the world movements until they heard Dewey's guns in Manila Bay. He is a Rip Van Winkle of an American who had to be aroused by the roar of guns to know that for years we have been a potent influence in the world's civilization, made so not by our army or our navy, but because we have ever been lovers of peace and high ideals. On friendly terms with the nations of the entire world with interest in every part of the globe, blessed as few nations have been blessed. Our position, our opportunity, for world leadership are alike strategic.

I remark again that the third ground for national gratitude is found in the nation's conception of prosperity.

We have been the most favored nation in the world, and like Israel of old a Providence has directed all our way. We have been led by a pillar of fire by night and cloud by day into the Canaan we now inhabit. We are an evolution. The best of all nations and of all governments is in us. All lands have contributed to our success. The best of Egypt of Sina, of Palestine, of Holland, of England. Four thousand battles have been fought in behalf of the liberty we enjoy. Little wonder, then, if our ideals as to national life are high. They should be high. There have been many views held as to what constitutes National prosperity. Perhaps the first view, at least he one commonest among rude people, was that a prosperous nation must be strong in war. This was the view of the old Spartan and early Romans who shaped everything in their public law and domestic life subservient to the greatest proficiency in war. Every one knows how this principal wrought the ruin of later Rome. The Athenians thought that a prosperous nation must be a knowing nation, and yet Greece with all her culture, failed to survive. A view that is very popular today is that a prosperous nation must be a wealthy nation. Six or seven hundred years ago Venice, under this theory, rose to influence; then Spain and Portugal, when they had a chance to tap the wealth of the golden Indies, then Holland, then England. If this were true we would without further question be the greatest nation on the globe, for from 1890 to 1900 our wealth increased from sixty-five billion dollars to one hundred and six billions—nearly 60 per cent.

There has been some truth in this view, industry, economy, commercial integrity, the foundation stones of wealth are very essential, and yet the past easily proves that not all wealth is prosperity.

Some wealth making have ruined nations. The tainted streams of gold that used to pour into the coffers of Spain from her American colonies never enriched her but, in truth, pauperized her, and very great wealth is likely to bring with it many vices, working ruin.

Still another view of a prosperous nation would connect it with just laws and a well framed system of government. This theory firmly held by many earnest men in the 18th century brought about the French revolution and the American revolution. And yet much truth as there is in this view; the world ought to know that something more than good laws is needed. The old Israelish conception is the highest and sublimest of all. A prosperous nation is one whose people are righteous, God fearing, men loving citizens. The nations of the past have decayed and perished away, not for lacking wealth or armies or laws, but because their citizens were without character, righteousness and lofty. And if our nation is to perpetuate itself, to grow with increasing usefulness and influence it will be because our citizens are becoming increasingly righteous. The character of a people enter into all its habits, its customs, its institutions, its laws and ideals.

Our nation has become strong because in the midst of a phenomenal growth we have been giving careful

I have been greatly interested in our schools, our churches, our homes—these are the institutions that make a nation strong, and if the time should ever come when our people should neglect these, and become absorbed in the pursuit of wealth or pleasure, or feel secure because of mighty army or massive navy, then no power on earth could save us from decay and death nationally. Israel had great ancestors. With pride she could point to Moses, Abraham and royal David, and a host of other illustrious leaders, declaring "ours are the fathers," but alas, giant-like though they were in character their heroes could not save them, for nations like individuals must depend on their own character and not that of their fathers. We too, have our ancestors. With patriotic pride we may exclaim, "Ours are the fathers." As one thinks of the colonial times we are led to exclaim, "There were giants in those days also!"

I have been greatly interested in the life of Washington. It is very wonderful. Read the life of Napoleon, then turn to that of Washington. You are disappointed, it lacks the dash, the brilliancy of Napoleon. Whence then, its greatness? For I think he towers above Napoleon as some lofty pine towers above the birch or maple. Washington had the genius of intellect, the genius of war, the genius of statesmanship, but supremely, the genius of character. It was his character that made him great. His unselfishness, his loving of truth and liberty. So great was he in moral worth that it seems to me there is none other worthy to stand beside him except the immortal Lincoln. But fellow citizens, the character and faith of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln can save us no more than the faith of Moses or Abraham could save the Israelites.

Some prophet of the Lord should arise like the Baptist of old, and call the nation to repentance. There are those in our midst, thinking of our great wealth, would feel secure, and others pointing to our navy and army would call the prophet an alarmist; still others, thinking of our laws and institutions, would remain undisturbed. But the true patriot would heed the prophet's warnings, feeling that the secret of the nation's strength lay in none of these things, but in the character of her people. As one studies the history of the world he beholds three marked divisions. In the first, power is magnified, force is deified, the strong man is the great man. Nimrod is the hero after the world's heart. In the second period, power is pushed to the rear, the intellectual man becomes the great man. Homer is the idol before whom the people like to bow.

In the third period inaugurated by Christianity the world is pointed not to Nimrod, not to Homer, but to Christ, pre-eminent among men for goodness. Ever after this it is not power, it is not genius, but it is goodness. The great man of the future will be the good man of the future. We are confronted with many great and perplexing problems, problems peculiarly our own. There is the great tide of immigration. What shall we do with it? Bringing to our shores tens of thousands unfitted for citizenship, who must somehow be Americanized, and the question will ever be, not can we influence them, but, will what we have to give them make them better. Then there is the race problem, gigantic enough, alone, to engage the attention of the nation. Add to this the task of the equalization of wealth, so that we may not have the idle rich, on the one hand, and the embittered poor, on the other.

Then look at the problem of intemperance, with its affinities, crimes in its various phases. The diminution of the home, society's first and fundamental institution. These are a few of the problems that we are compelled to face and solve. Our future as a nation will depend upon the character of our citizens. The supreme need of this hour is to have strong in our midst the spirit, the purpose, the dauntless, heroic character, that dominated our Pilgrim Fathers. Ours indeed are the Fathers. Fathers that loved God and his law, His book and His day. Fathers who feared nothing but sin. They laid well the foundations for a great and mighty nation and we, their sons, must build as well.

Stepping out in to the wider arena of the world's thought, the greatest problem before the nations of the earth today is the problem of war and peace. What is our attitude toward war? What is our attitude toward peace? Do we hate war? Do we love peace? War has been the most gigantic evil of the last century. Shall it be the same giant of evil of this century? As a nation our voice should be heard in behalf of peace by every nation on the globe. Thus it seems to me fellow citizens the reasons for national gratitude to Almighty God are real and vital. Let us remember to show our gratitude in some substantial way, for after all we must give thanks as individuals. Each feeling the responsibility, each seeing the opportunity, we can do no better than pledge ourselves anew to the support of the highest and best in the land, the purest and simplest living, the loftiest of thinking, the noblest acting. Let us, dear brethren, give to our country and our God, the noblest manhood and truest womanhood we can. And then with each succeeding year, and each returning Thanksgiving day, we can say, "The eternal God is our refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms."

PEASANTS STARVING

Famine Conditions in Russia Have Now Reached a Most Desperate Stage.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 29.—The famine conditions in the governments of Kazan, Simbirsk, Samara, Saratov and other Volga governments have now reached a most desperate stage. The situation this year is worse than for ten years past. According to experts the famine is only slightly, if at all, less severe than the great famine of 1891, which enlisted the sympathy of the civilized world, and caused the United States to send a shipload of grain, clothing, etc., to Russia. Thousands of peasants in the stricken districts are now in the grasp of actual starvation, the cold of winter has already begun and letters and dispatches describe the piteous condition of the peasants, who are eating pigweed and hay in order to lessen the pangs of hunger, and are generally resigning themselves apathetically and hopelessly to their fate, only in rare instances resorting to violence.

If the plans are approved, and the details are arranged, the board will endeavor to raise the required amount by popular subscription.

THE FLYING WEDGE.

"The Flying Wedge," given by the Seniors of Newark High school Wednesday night was a success throughout. It was admirably put on under the direction of Miss Florence M. King, with a cast composed of the following students: Misses Florence Montgomery, Helen Hartzler, Mary Nichols, Verona Martin, and Messrs. Earl Russell, George Upson, and Adolbert Conley.

Before the play Miss Irene Henthorne and Mr. Will Reynolds each sang a solo and Miss Bess Gleen gave a delightful number on the piano. Each received hearty applause.

The play kept the audience in a constant uproar of laughter and was remarkably well acted for amateurs. Miss Helen Hartzler and Mr. George Upson carried off the chief honors of the evening, but each member of the cast did such splendid work that the audience felt disappointed that the program did not last longer. The affair was a financial success, also.

Covington, O., Nov. 28.—Roscoe W. Shuman, general secretary of the Newark Y. M. C. A., whose parental home is in this city, was united in marriage to Miss Eva May Ruhl, the accomplished daughter of First Vice President J. H. Ruhl of the First National bank of Covington, at the home of the bride's parents at six o'clock last evening. Just the immediate relatives of the prominent young couple were in attendance. Miss Ruhl was one of this city's most popular young women and her friends here regret her departure for Newark.

BROWN-PFEFFER.

On Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pfeffer, on Hudson avenue, a very pretty home wedding took place when Miss Freda Pfeffer and Mr. David C. Brown were united in marriage. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Mary Hentze the wedding procession, led by Rev. J. A. Bennet, entered the parlor, where the ceremony was performed. Rev. M. Bennett was followed by the ribbon bearers, Mr. Arthur Gray and Miss Fern Hahn. Miss Hahn was attired in a pretty costume of tan silk with trimmings of blue.

The bride entered on the arm of the groom, and was attired in a gown of white tulle with under white net, and carried a beautiful bouquet of American Beauty roses. The impressive ring ceremony was used. The house was decorated with ferns and palms, while the bride's table was prettily arranged with the color scheme of green and red, which was carried out with red candles and shades and green smilax. Those seated there were, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mrs. James Brown, Miss Sadie Brown, Miss Hahn, Mr. Arthur Gray, Mr. Harold Bartholomew, Misses Nellie Gray, Elsie Hirschberg, Sabina Hirschberg, Mary Hentze, Susie Devlin, Jennie Green, Alice Nell.

When the bride's cake was cut Mr. Arthur Gray received the ring, Miss Elsie Hirschberg the thimble, while Miss Sabina Hirschberg received the penny.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown received many very pretty presents. The young couple left last evening for a trip to Chicago, after which they will be at home to their friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pfeffer on Hudson avenue.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effects are charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruiise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Thanksgiving Day.

Thanksgiving is the day set apart by our government for the sole purpose of giving thanks to our Maker for the many blessings bestowed upon the nation and its people, the first Thanksgiving having been observed by the Plymouth settlers on their landing on the Massachusetts coast in 1621, and since which time the custom of observing the special holiday has spread to the west and south.

The word, to many, means nothing more than the ordinary other day when business stops and the general spirit of holiday quiet reigns supreme, but to more it means a time for thought; earnest prayerful thought; a time for reflection upon the many good things strewn in our walk of the past year. The time for thought over the sorrows and disappointments of the past and the duller prospects of the future comes to us too often every day. It is almost an established act for the man of today to count up his troubles of the past and look forward for those of the future. Indeed, it is well enough to be on the alert and in full preparation to meet difficulties, but the trouble is that the fear of difficulties and discouragement overshadows the thankfulness due for the blessings and encouragement. So, in order that we may, in a way, make up for the partially neglected appreciation of the good of the year, this one day is set apart by the President, and has been since 1863, for prayerfulness.

The railroad trains over the country are crowded bearing travelers to their homes that they may spend Thanksgiving with their families. It is the day when the son or daughter in the big bustling city hastens home to be with the old folks and meet other brothers and sisters, uncles and aunts, babies and all, and crowd about the family board for a hearty feast of things prepared in the good, old-fashioned, country style, and usually "topped out" with a bountiful supply of rich, well roasted turkey.

In most of the older New England homes the feast usually follows an hour of devotion during which the head of the house conducts the hymns and a long prayer. The service is then repeated in the evening, following the chats and discussion of the business of the visiting members of the family, together with anecdotes of early experiences by the older persons.

There are some people known to each family, to whom the mind naturally turns when the true significance of Thanksgiving is considered. They are the ones who possibly have no means with which to spread a feast for their families; the ones who can only wish that they could join in the happy celebration which is foretold to them by the sight of market-traders trudging homeward with baskets filled for the Thanksgiving meals. Still, after all, these people are thankful. They are happy, as a rule, when they can see their loved ones about them and know that they have been spared to spend another year together; when they look toward the brighter prospects of the future and see a ray of hope for better conditions, even though that ray is ever so faint. Then, perhaps, they are startled by a rap on the door and open it to admit one of the city's more thoughtful class, who, feeling more thankful by helping others, comes with arms loaded with good things donated toward their happiness by the children of the schools, The King's Daughters, or that powerful organization, the Salvation Army. So, after all, everyone has something to be thankful for, and the man or woman who has done all in his power to make others happy is happy also, and can heartily join in giving thanks and then, after the day has passed, start in his duties of the following days so much the better prepared for them.

I have invented a rupture appliance that I can safely say, by 30 years' experience in the rupture business, is the only one that will absolutely hold the rupture and never slip and yet is cool, comfortable, conforms to every movement of the body without chafing or hurting and costs less than many ordinary trusses. I have put the price so low that any person, rich or poor, can buy, and I absolutely guarantee it. I make it to your order—send it to you—you wear it, and if it doesn't satisfy you send it back to me and I will refund your money. This is the fairest proposition ever made by a rupture specialist. The banks or any responsible citizen in Marshall will tell you that is the way I do business—always absolutely on the square.

"C. E. Brooks, Esq. Dear Sir—I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact at times I did not know I had it on. It just adapted itself to the shape of the body and clung to the spot no matter what position I was in. It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture, if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They certainly would never regret it. My rupture is all healed up and nothing ever did it but your appliance, Jas. Britton."

If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success. Write me today and I will send you my book on Rupture and its Cure, showing my appliance and giving you prices and names of people who have tried it and been cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember I use no salves, no harness, no ties. Just a straight business deal at a reasonable price.

The Influence Of What We Eat

Young People Are Especially Susceptible To This Influence.

The nourishment taken by body and mind, the extent to which this nourishment is assimilated, the form and proportions in which it is taken into the system, the amount of food and drink consumed, and the care given to the body and its various functions—all profoundly affect the health. Some individuals think they can abuse the laws of nature with impunity, but even generous endowments of physical vigor eventually succumb, while the great mass of people, especially the young, are peculiarly susceptible to the food they consume. As "Good Housekeeping" in an editorial suggests, health depends not so much on the nourishment taken into the stomach as on the extent to which this nourishment is taken up by the system. Maltose, the perfect food, containing every food element necessary to the sustenance of the human body and mind, is readily assimilated, even by the weakest stomach, because of the large percentage of maltose, or malt sugar, which it contains. Maltose is a natural sweetening agent and forms rich, healthy blood. Maltose-Vita is especially beneficial for children, and it is so good to eat for sale by all grocers, 10 cents.

L. F. M'KINNEY EX-NEWARK MAN

FORMER CONGRESSMAN ELECTED TO STATE LEGISLATURE IN MAINE.

Many Years Ago Mr. McKinney Was Engaged in Grocery Business in Newark.

A Bridgeton, Maine, paper, contains the following article regarding Hon. Luther F. McKinney, who many years ago resided in Newark:

"A former congressman will have a seat in the Maine House of Representatives, Hon. Luther F. McKinney of Bridgeton, having been elected by Democratic votes to represent the Cumberland county town in the coming session. Mr. McKinney rather reverses the usual procedure, as the state legislature is generally the preliminary stage for the wider development of ambitious politicians, a stepping stone to a career in congress.

"Luther F. McKinney was born in Newark, Ohio, 65 years ago, was educated in St. Lawrence university and continued to the ministry. Taking up his residence in New Hampshire in 1886, he was elected to the first congress from the 1st New Hampshire district. In 1888 he was defeated, but in 1890 returned after a highly complimentary majority of 400 in a nominally Republican district.

"Congressman McKinney took an active part in tariff discussion and supported the Mills bill. He was in the national house with Reed, McKinley, Crisp, the Breckinridges, Carlisle, Bryan and many other celebrities. He was a personal friend of Grover Cleveland and was selected by him to speak in defense of the ex-president's pension record on the floor of the house in 1888.

"In 1893 congressman McKinney was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Bogota, by President Cleveland, serving until 1897, when he resigned, although assured by President McKinley that no immediate change in the office was contemplated.

"At the outbreak of the civil war Mr. McKinney enlisted as a sergeant in the 1st Ohio cavalry and served for eighteen months, seeing much hard service, contracting typhoid fever, from which he suffered for many years. Although entitled to a pension he never applied for one.

"For many years Mr. McKinney has been a plain, quiet citizen and business man of Bridgeton, a typical Maine country village. He has been selectman and superintendent of schools and is treasurer of the Bridgeton furniture company. He is a Knight Templar, O. E. Fellow, and member of the G. A. R.

As noted above, Hon. Luther F. McKinney was born in Newark, and will be well remembered by many of the older citizens. He is a brother of Miss Mattie McKinney and Mrs. Jonathan Wright of this city. Many years ago he was engaged in the grocery business in Newark. At the breaking out of the civil war he enlisted in Co. D, First Ohio Volunteer Cavalry, under Capt. D. B. Moore and saw services on many a battle field.

AMUSEMENTS

TODAY'S OFFERING.

There isn't much to tell about an average country town that DeWitt Thompson and George W. Egan haven't told in their "Hardscrabble" town comedy, "Our New Minister." The authors make the town church the scene of their main action, but the spirit of human influence they reveal in this story is equally as pertinent to communities that with comic phrases of not so common to a country town. The playwrights managed to steal into the consciousness of the audience a wish for a more intimate than prevails in most small settlements. In the play, the old pastor of Hardscrabble, N. H., is of the old blue blooded school. The new minister is less severe, more humane, a man more with an eye to what is tender, even though the help he would extend falls without the pale of what narrow tradition says is a circumstantial rule of what narrow tradition says is a pastor's duty. The duties of a pastor of "Minister," and all of the Hardscrabble folks, including Joseph of the Handicapped, will be at the Auditorium this afternoon and evening.

HUMPTY DUMPTY SATURDAY.
If you are looking for a good laugh, see "Humpty Dumpty" at the Auditorium Saturday afternoon and night, December 1st. Seats only early.

JOLLY PATHFINDER.

Much interest is being aroused over the engagement of the Rev. J. J. Pathfinder, at the Auditorium commencing Monday evening. The company is decidedly above the average repertoire company. Mr. Pathfinder having selected Mrs. Asquith, from the Forepaugh stock in Philadelphia, and Mr. Pathfinder from the stock in Boston. These two artists have been engaged to do the leading for the coming season. The repertoire will be entirely new and up-to-date. The opening show will be "From Sire to Son." Seats on sale Saturday.

ORPHUM THEATER.

Don't miss attending the Orphum this evening. The performance is Friday evening is amateur night. Two prizes will be given as usual. A beautiful rocking chair given away Saturday evening.

TOMMY HAYES' CURIOSITIES.

Tommy Hayes who is doing a very clever turn with bones and musical glasses at the Orphum theater this week, is one of the old time minstrel men, who has been engaged in the business since 1872. He still uses the "rattle" bones with which he first appeared on the stage. Mr. West has a during his long career as a vaudeville artist, visited every part of the United States, Canada and Mexico, and being a lover of nature has picked up many curiosities, one of which is a California onyx. The stone was found by "Tommy" during his rambles about California, and is about an inch and a half square. Held at arm's length, one side presents the appearance of a very beautiful painting, mountain scene, in which can be clearly distinguished the snow capped mountains, ravines, pine trees and a perfect sunset. On the other side is a perfect miniature map of California, the state in which it was found. The cities of Los Angeles and California are clearly defined, and the general outline is exactly that of California. Mr. Hayes is about to have the stone mounted as a charm. Among other things in the trunk of this old timer, are several specimens of precious stones in the rough, and a great number of ancient and rare coins, some dating back to the year 350 B. C.

Mrs. Austin says: "My buckwheat cakes will please you, if you love the good old fashioned flavor."

PILES CURED

Suffering for Years, and Bed-ridden From Piles, a Massachusetts Man is Cured by Pyramid Pile Cure.

Trial Package Mailed Free to All Who Send Name and Address.

"I tried the sample of your cure you sent to me. I used it and then bought a 50c box. The results were immediate and surprising to me, I assure you. I had been to a dozen of the best doctors and paid much money to them with no results whatever. I had this affliction for 20 years. I was in a hospital for a long time, and I left it physically broken down. I have been so bad for months at a time as to be unable to walk. Having a friend who lost his life by an operation, I desisted from ever having that experiment tried on me. I owe you a debt of gratitude. I believe that piles would be banished from humanity and become an unknown thing, were every one afflicted with them to but spend from 50c to $1.00 for Pyramid Pile Cure. Its speedy action also makes it extremely favorable for impatient people. I am yours sincerely, George H. Bartlett, Mattapan, Mass."

Instant relief can be gotten by using the marvelous Pyramid Pile Cure. It immediately reduces all congestion and swelling, heals all sores, ulcers and irritated parts.

The moment you start to use it your suffering ends and the cure of your dread disease is in sight.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is put up in the form of "easy to use" specially made suppositories. They are soothing, painless, instant and certain.

A trial treatment will be sent you at once by mail, in plain, sealed wrapper, without a cent of expense to you, if you send your name and address to Pyramid Drug Co., 60 Pyramid Building, Marshall, Mich.

ECZEMA'S CAUSE

No one has any doubt of the cause of eczema and all skin diseases.

It is simply a case of looking through the microscope and actually seeing the cause—the tiny grains of uric acid lodged inside the skin.

With the cause so clearly seen, the cure is only common sense. Will you use your own good judgment?

HOW URIC ACID CAUSES ECZEMA

Running through your skin are millions of tiny blood vessels—much smaller than a hair.

These blood vessels are so small that when your blood is impure the blood and impurities both cannot possibly get through them.

What is the result? The blood does get through, but it leaves the impurities—the uric acid—behind!

Then the blood forces the sharp, sand-like grains of uric acid through the blood vessels and into the tissues of the skin itself.

And so from these tiny grains of uric acid in the skin comes the agonizing itching and discharge of Ecema, the eruptions of Scrofula, pimples, freckles and other skin diseases.

HOW LIFE PLANT REMOVES URIC ACID

When tiny grains of uric acid lodge in your skin (and they can always be seen through a microscope), causing pimples, mucky complexion, eczema, or scrofula, the common sense cure is to get rid of the uric acid.

LIFE PLANT gets rid of the uric acid by dissolving it out of the skin, and so gets rid of the cause of disease.

LIFE PLANT is a natural tonic and solvent of uric acid. It is the only common sense remedy for all diseases of the skin.

BEGINNINGS OF URIC ACID DISEASES

Uric acid brings muddy or sallow complexion, pimples, blotches, eczema and scrofula. It is the vital poison in impure blood. It brings headache, constipation, backache, menstrual disorders and womb and ovarian troubles.

R If you suffer from eczema or any skin or blood disease, use your own good judgment. Take LIFE PLANT. Cure yourself in the common sense way. You can get LIFE PLANT from your druggist.

Thanksgiving Day.

Thanksgiving is the day set apart by our government for the sole purpose of giving thanks to our Maker for the many blessings bestowed upon the nation and its people, the first Thanksgiving having been observed by the Plymouth settlers on their landing on the Massachusetts coast in 1621, and since which time the custom of observing the special holiday has spread to the west and south.

The word, to many, means nothing more than the ordinary other day when business stops and the general spirit of holiday quiet reigns supreme, but, to more it means a time for thought; earnest prayerful thought; a time for reflection upon the many good things strewn in our walk of the past year.

The time for thought over the sorrows and disappointments of the past and the duller prospects of the future comes to us too often every day. It is almost an established act for the man of today to count up his troubles of the past and look forward for those of the future. Indeed, it is well enough to be on the alert and in full preparation to meet difficulties, but the trouble is that the fear of difficulties and discouragement overshadows the thankfulness—due for the blessings and encouragement. So, in order that we may, in a way, make up for the partially neglected appreciation of the good of the year, this one day is set apart by the President, and has been since 1863, for prayerfulness.

The railroad trains over the country are crowded bearing travelers to their homes that they may spend Thanksgiving with their families. It is the day when the son or daughter in the big bustling city hastens home to be with the old folks and meet other brothers and sisters, uncles and aunts, babies and all, and crowd about the family board for a hearty feast of things prepared in the good, old-fashioned, country style, and usually "topped out" with a bountiful supply of rich, well roasted turkey.

In most of the older New England homes, the feast usually follows an hour of devotions during which the head of the house conducts the hymns and a long prayer. The service is then repeated in the evening, following the chats and discussion of the business of the visiting members of the family, together with anecdotes of early experiences by the older persons.

There are some people known to each family, to whom the mind naturally turns when the true significance of Thanksgiving is considered. They are the ones who possibly have no means with which to spread a feast for their families; the ones who can only wish that they could join in the happy celebration which is foretold to them by the sight of market-traders trudging homeward with baskets filled for the Thanksgiving meals.

Still, after all, these people are thankful. They are happy, as a rule, when they can see their loved ones about them and know that they have been spared to spend another year together; when they look toward the brighter prospects of the future and see a ray of hope for better conditions, even though that ray is ever so faint. Then, perhaps, they are startled by a rap on the door and open it to admit one of the city's more thoughtful class, who, feeling more thankful by helping others, comes with arms loaded with good things donated toward their happiness by the children of the schools, The King's Daughters, or that power-

So, after all, everyone has something to be thankful for, and the man or woman who has done all in his power to make others happy is happy also, and can heartily join in giving thanks and then, after the day has passed, start in his duties of the following days so much the better prepared for them.

I Send It On Approval—You Wear It—If You Are Not Satisfied, I Refund Your Money.

I have invented a rupture appliance that I can safely say, by 30 years' experience in the rupture business, is the only one that will absolutely hold the rupture and never slip and yet is cool, comfortable, conforms to every movement of the body without chafing or hurting and costs less than many ordinary trusses. I have put the price so low that any person, rich or poor, can buy, and I absolutely guarantee it. I make it to your order—send it to you—you wear it, and if it doesn't satisfy you send it back to me and I will refund your money. This is the fairest proposition ever made by a rupture specialist. The banks or any responsible citizen in Marshall will tell you that is the way I do business—always absolutely on the square.

Here is what Mr. Jas. Britton, a prominent manufacturer of Bethlehem, Pa., writes:

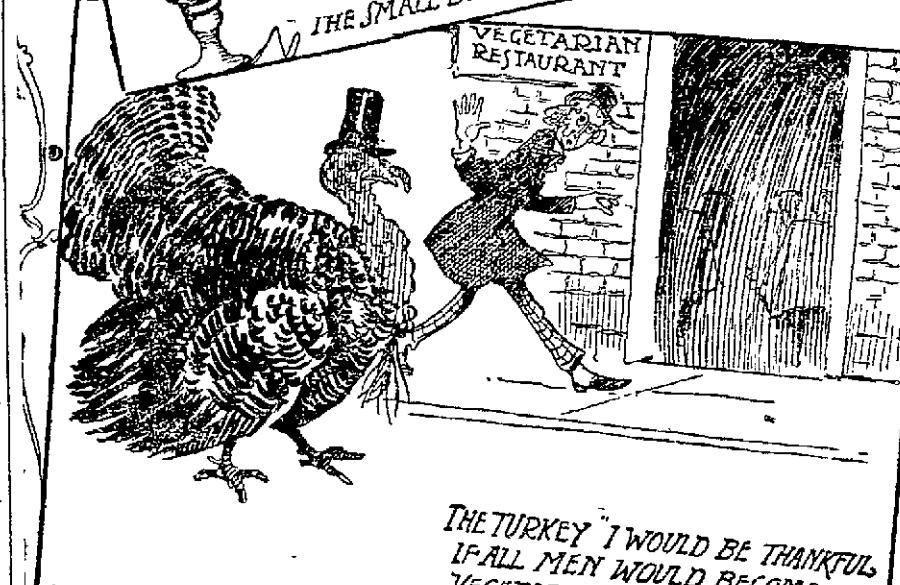

"C. E. Brooks, Esq. Dear Sir:—I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact at times I did not know I had it on. It just adapted itself to the shape of the body and clung to the spot no matter what position I was in. It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture, if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They certainly would never regret it. My rupture is all healed up and nothing ever did it but your appliance. Jas. Britton."

If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success. Write me today and I will send you my book on Rupture and its Cure, showing my appliance and giving you prices and names of people who have tried it and been cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember I use no salves, no harness, no ties. Just a straight business deal at a reasonable price. C. E. BROOKS, 2350 Brooks Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

L. F. MCKINNEY EX-NEWARK MAN

FORMER CONGRESSMAN ELECTED TO STATE LEGISLATURE IN MAINE.

Many Years Ago Mr. McKinney Was Engaged in Grocery Business in Newark.

A Bridgeton, Maine, paper, contains the following article regarding Hon. Luther F. McKinney, who many years ago resided in Newark:

"A former congressman will have a seat in the next Maine house of representatives, Hon. Luther F. McKinney of Bridgeton, having been elected by Democratic votes to represent the Cumberland county town in the coming session. Mr. McKinney rather reverses the usual procedure, as the state legislature is generally the preliminary stage for the wider development of ambitious politicians, a stepping stone to a career in congress.

"Luther F. McKinney was born in Newark, Ohio, was educated at St. Lawrence university and graduated in the ministry. Taking up his residence in New Hampshire in 1878, he was elected to the first congress from the 1st New Hampshire district. In 1888 he was defeated, but in 1890 returned after a highly complimentary majority of 400 in a nominally Republican district.

"Congressman McKinney took an active part in tariff discussion and supported the Mills bill. He was in the national house with Reed, McKinley, Crisp, the Breckinridges, Carlisle, Bryan and many other celebrities. He was a personal friend of Grover Cleveland and was selected by him to speak in defense of the ex-president's pension record on the floor of the house in 1895.

"In 1893 Congressman McKinney was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Bogalusa, by President Cleveland, serving until 1897, when he resigned, although assured by President McKinney that no immediate change in the office was contemplated.

"At the outbreak of the civil war Mr. McKinney enlisted as sergeant in the 1st Ohio cavalry and served for eight months, seeing much hard service, contracting typhoid fever, from which he suffered for many years. Although entitled to a pension he never applied for one.

"For many years Mr. McKinney has been a plain, quiet citizen and business man in Bridgeton, a typical Maine country village. He has been selectman and superintendent of schools and is treasurer of the Bridgeton furniture company, a Knight Templar, Odd Fellow, and member of the G. A. R."

As noted above, Hon. Luther F. McKinney was born in Newark, and will be well remembered by many of the older citizens. He is a brother of Miss Mattie McKinney and Mrs. Jonathan Wright of this city. Many years ago he was engaged in the grocery business in Newark. At the breaking out of the civil war he enlisted in Co. D, First Ohio Volunteer Cavalry, under Capt. D. B. Moore and saw services on many a battle field.

AMUSEMENTS

TODAY'S OFFERING.

There isn't much to tell about an average country town that Denman Thompson and George Whitlow haven't told in their Handscreable town comedy. "Our New Minister" is the new number. The authors make the town church the scene of their main action, but the spirit of human influence they reveal in the story are equally as pertinent to communities that never had a church. The humor comes with comic phrases of most common to a country town, the playwrights managed to steal into the consciousness of the town for a new comedy. The comedy is more than a small set of elements. In the play, the old pastor of Handscreable, N. H., is the old blue law disciplinary school. The new minister is less severe, more human, a man more with an eye to what is under, even though the help he would extend falls without the pale of what narrow tradition says is a circumscribed circle of the duties of a pastor. The duties of a pastor. Our New Minister, and all of the Handscreable folks including Joseph Court common to the Auditorium this afternoon and evening.

The company is decidedly above the average for a comedy company. The new number, selected Miss Asquith, from the Pennsylvania Stock in Philadelphia and Mr. Fulton from the stock in Boston. These two artists have been engaged to do the leads for the coming season. The repertoire will be entirely new and up-to-date. The evening show will be "From Sure to Son." Seats on sale Saturday.

ORPHIUM THEATRE.

Don't miss attending the Orphium this evening. The performance is meeting with general satisfaction. Friday evening is amateur night. Two prizes will be given as usual. A beautiful rocking chair given away Saturday evening.

TOMMY HAYES' CURIOSITIES.

Tommy Hayes who is doing a very clever turn with bones and musical glasses at the Orphium theatre this week, is one of the old time minstrel men, who has been engaged in the business since 1872. He still uses the "rattle" bones with which he first appeared on the stage. Mr. West has a during his long career as a vaudeville artist, visited every part of the United States, Canada and Mexico, and being a lover of nature has picked up many curiosities, one of which is a California onyx. The stone was found by "Tommy" during his rambles about California, and is about an inch and a half square. Held at arm's length, one side presents the appearance of a very beautiful painting, mountain scene, in which can be clearly distinguished the snow capped mountains, ravines, pine trees and a perfect sunset. On the other side is a perfect miniature map of California, the state in which it was found. The cities of Los Angeles and California are clearly defined, and the general outline is exactly that of California. Mr. Hayes is about to have the stone mounted as a charm. Among other things in the trunk of this old timer, are several specimens of precious stones in the rough, and a great number of ancient and rare coins, some dating back to the year 350 B. C.

GRANVILLE NEWS

Granville, O., Nov. 29.—One of the most enjoyable events of the season, was the annual Thanksgiving Extra of the Irving Literary Society of Doane academy, held in Irving hall, on Monday evening. The spacious hall was crowded to its utmost capacity with students, and town people to listen to the following excellent program:

Union Thanksgiving services were held at the Presbyterian church on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock when the annual Thanksgiving sermon was preached by the Rev. J. W. Eason, pastor of the Methodist church. A large congregation was in attendance. An art reception will be given by Minnie B. Jones and Luella Gurey at the home of Mrs. George F. Jones, on December 6, 7 and 8, afternoons and evenings. They extend a cordial invitation to all their friends to call and inspect the work.

The members of the Sigma Chi fraternity have issued invitations for a reception to be held on Friday evening, of this week. This is the annual reception of the Sigs given for the students who remain in town during the Thanksgiving recess.

The King's Daughters will meet with Gertrude Fulton Monday evening, Dec. 3. They will take the 3:30 car from Granville.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Williams of Denison, O., who have been visiting friends here for some time, have returned home.

Miss Mary Little of Toledo, after a short visit with friends here has returned home.

At a meeting of the Sophomore class of Denison university held for the purpose of electing an editor in chief and business manager of the 1908 Adytum, George W. Phillips was elected editor in chief, and Carl H. Foote business manager.

All the departments of Denison university closed on Tuesday at noon for the Thanksgiving recess, and will resume Monday. A large number of the students are spending Thanksgiving at their homes.

The members of the Granville club entertained their wives and families at their club rooms on Wednesday night.

PILES CURED

Suffering for Years, and Bed-ridden From Piles, a Massachusetts Man is Cured by Pyramid Pile Cure.

Trial Package Mailed Free to All Who Send Name and Address.

"I tried the sample of your cure you sent to me. I used it and then bought a 50c box. The results were immediate and surprising to me, I assure you. I had been to a dozen of the best doctors and paid much money to them with no results whatever. I had this affliction for 20 years. I was in a hospital for a long time, and I left it physically broken down. I have been so bad for months at a time as to be unable to walk. Having a friend who lost his life by an operation, I desisted from ever having that experiment tried on me. I owe you a debt of gratitude. I believe that piles would be banished from humanity and become an unknown thing, were every one afflicted with them to but spend from 50c to $1.00 for Pyramid Pile Cure. Its speedy action also makes it extremely favorable for impatient people. I am yours sincerely, George H. Bartlett, Mattapan, Mass."

Instant relief can be gotten by using the marvelous Pyramid Pile Cure. It immediately reduces all congestion and swelling, heals all sores, ulcers and irritated parts.

The moment you start to use it your suffering ends and the cure of your dread disease is in sight.

The Pyramid Pile Cure frequently renders a surgical operation unnecessary. Don't subject yourself to this except as a very last resort.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is put up in the form of "easy to use" special-made suppositories. They are soothing, painless, instant and certain.

A trial treatment will be sent you at once by mail, in plain, sealed wrapper, without a cent of expense to you, if you send your name and address to Pyramid Drug Co., 60 Pyramid Building, Marshall, Mich.

JOHN JANIA, POLE SHOT BY POLICE THIS MORNING

Chicago, Nov. 29.—John Jania, a Pole, was shot and killed this morning in Mrs. F. K. Mosk's saloon, Twenty-fourth street and Western avenue, by the police. A wedding celebration was being held with about one hundred guests when at about 1 o'clock, he noticed a row of men, pistols were drawn by both sides and a fusillade followed.

ECZEMA'S CAUSE

No one has any doubt of the cause of eczema and all skin diseases.

It is simply a case of looking through the microscope and actually seeing the cause—the tiny grains of uric acid lodged inside the skin.

With the cause so clearly seen, the cure is only common sense. Will you use your own good judgment?

HOW URIC ACID CAUSES ECZEMA HOW LIFE PLANT REMOVES URIC ACID

Running through your skin are millions of tiny blood vessels—much smaller than a hair.

These blood vessels are so small that when your blood is impure the blood and impurities both cannot possibly get through them.

What is the result? The blood does get through, but it leaves the impurities—the uric acid—behind!

Then the blood forces the sharp, sand-like grains of uric acid through the blood vessels and into the tissues of the skin itself.

And so from these tiny grains of uric acid in the skin comes the agonizing, itching and discharge of Ecze-ma, the eruptions of Scrofula, pimples, freckles and other skin diseases.

When tiny grains of uric acid lodge in your skin (and they can always be seen through a microscope), causing pimples, muddy complexion, eczema, or scrofula, the common sense cure is to get rid of the uric acid.

LIFE PLANT gets rid of the uric acid by dissolving it out of the skin, and so gets rid of the cause of disease.

LIFE PLANT is a natural tonic and solvent of uric acid. It is the only common sense remedy for all diseases of the skin.

BEGINNINGS OF URIC ACID DISEASES

Uric acid brings muddy or sallow complexion, pimples, blotches, eczema and scrofula. It is the vital poison in impure blood. It brings headache, constipation, backache, menstrual disorders and womb and ovarian troubles.

If you suffer from eczema or any skin or blood disease, use your own good judgment. Take LIFE PLANT. Care yourself in the common sense way. You can get LIFE PLANT from your druggist.

BLOODY BATTLE BURNS VS. O'BRIEN

PUGILISTS FOUGHT 20 ROUNDS TO A DRAW AT LOS ANGELES.

When the End Came It Found the Men in Center of Ring Fighting Furiously.

Los Angeles, Nov. 29.—Before the Pacific Athletic club Wednesday night, Tommy Burns of this city and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien fought 20 rounds to a draw.

When the end came it found the men in the center of the ring engaged in a terrible struggle. The whole upper part of their bodies was covered with blood. When Referee Jeffries held up the gloves of both fighters, a shout of disapproval went up from Burns' admirers, who believed their man had won.

After the fight Burns said: "I won fairly and I think the referee's decision was bad." O'Brien said: "I am very well satisfied with decision.
I was a little too light. Hereafter I will stay in the middleweight class." Referee Jim Jeffries said: "Under two circumstances I do not see how I could have rendered a different decision."

Burns, who fought like a bulldog from beginning to end, was always on the aggressive, crowding his opponent to the ropes and frequently rushing him about the ring almost in flight. The fighting practically from the first was terrific and interesting.
Burns undoubtedly landed many more blows than O'Brien and they seemed to show greater force. O'Brien's footwork was fast and clever and his ducking saved him time and again from severe punishment. Burns, however, had O'Brien's nose bleeding and his right eye laid open in the early rounds. The men showed evidence of bitterness toward each other throughout the bout. O'Brien was almost groggy at different stages and a knockout often seemed to be at hand.

In the sixteenth round O'Brien, who had rested in clinches, appeared strengthened, and for a while carried the fight to his opponent. Neither scored a knockout in the fight.

Quintet Tournament.

The quintet tourney at the Hayes' alleys closed last night with James Mc-Gough in first place, score 174 in the games. C. S. Cabane, second, score 156, Ralph Davis, third, score 152, Frank Wilson, fourth 150. W. Sheppard won the turkey with the high score of 66.
Many other good scores were made.

LINGAFELTER CASE FRIDAY AT COSHOCTON

afelter will go to Coshocton Friday rival of the party in the court room.

Mrs. Lingafelter will accompany her attorneys, Messrs. John David Jones, Smythe & Smythe, Frank V. Owens,
and Mr. Abernethy of Columbus.

The state will be represented by the court overrules the motion, sentence

IRA N. BRYANT ARRESTED FOR AN OLD CRIME

Tolado, Nov. 23.—Ira N. Bryant, alleged leader of the notorious flying gang of northwestern Ohio, charged by the Ohio authorities with being a fugitive from justice, was arrested at Hudson, Mich., last evening by George C.
Rings, deputy state firemarshal of West Unity, Williams county, for arson, alleged to have committed in Fulton county 28 years ago. Bryant is a wealthy stockman and farmer, living near Hudson.

Ohio authorities claim that he with others burned over a million and a half dollars worth of property. The specific charge against Bryant is that he conspired to burn a grist mill belonging to George Letcher and others at Pettisville, Fulton county on March 31, 1878.

FOOTBALL

Zanesville High has booked the Pittsburg High school for a game Saturday.
A Zanesville paper has the nerve to state that the game will decide the Ohio-Pennsylvania championship as Pittsburg is champion of her own state. When Zanesville defeats Newark such an honor can be theirs but not until then. Newark defeated New Philadelphia High 9 to 0. New Philadelphia High defeated Cambridge High 19 to 0, and Zanesville could score but two points on a fumble play on Cambridge. Yet they claim to be champions over Newark. Guess again Zanesville.

The Phi Sigma Chi fraternity of Mt.
Vernon is playing the Coshocton chapter of the same fraternity at Coshocton this afternoon. The game comes a banquet at 12 o'clock. The high school team at Coshocton is practically represented on the "frat" team. A good game was anticipated.

Denison is not playing football today.
This game with Wittenberg was scheduled today but was cancelled early in the season. Several of the members of the team will see the State-Medic game at Columbus this afternoon. The many Newark people are in Columbus today to see the great football clash between the O. M. U. football team and the Ohio State champions. This is the first game between these institutions since 1900. The game promises to be hotly contested, the betting is even and both sides are determined.

POLO AT EAST NEWARK RINK

Manager Ted Draken of the East Newark rink has arranged a banner program for Thanksgiving afternoon and evening. As part of the special showing features two big polo games will be played this afternoon and evening.
Utica will be the opponents in both games and they have a strong team in the little glass village in northern Lackawanna. Newark will endeavor to square themselves with the Newark polo public by winning both games and thus putting themselves even, two won and two lost.

Manager Draken and Coach Heath have trained the local team hard during the past week and are prepared to give Utica a hard battle.

AMERICAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Miss Irene Crosby Is One of Thousands of Cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely.

Thousands of American women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs these periods of their terrors.

Miss Irene Crosby, of 213 Charlton Street, East Savannah, Ga., writes:

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a true friend to woman. It has been of great benefit to me, curing me of irregular and painful periods when everything else had failed, and I gladly recommend it to other suffering women."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration, the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising women free of charge. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

BIG FOUR ROAD GIVES INCREASE

COMPANY WILL GRANT SAME ADVANCE ALLOWED BY
B. & O. S. W.

Ashland and Wooster Line Sold—It is a Road 18 Miles Long—Day's Railway News.

An Advocate telegram in another column tells of a disastrous wreck on the Southern road this morning in which President Samuel Spencer was killed and 15 passengers were badly hurt. Others are reported killed but full details of the wreck were not received at the hour of going to press at noon Thursday. Mr. Spencer was formerly a B. and O. vice president and one of the former leading managers of the B. and O. He was well known to local railway officials.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 29.—Following the announcement that the wages of the switchmen on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railroad would be increased four cents an hour General Manager Van Winkle of the Big Four system decided to grant the same increase to the switchmen on his road.
The old scale was 23 to 31 cents an hour. The advance is retroactive, going into effect Nov. 1. It is understood Mr. Van Winkle will next take up the demands of the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and Locomotive Firemen.

Railroad Sold.
Wooster, O., Nov. 29.—According to a deed filed for record here a sale has been consummated conveying the Ashland & Wooster railway line, 18 miles long, running from Ashland to Custaloga, Wayne county, to the Ashland & Western Railway company. A mortgage filed at the same time shows the giving of a mortgage for $200,000 by the Ashland & Western Railway company, signed Z. C. Davis, as president, to the Cleveland Trust company.

Reading Employees Get Raise.
Reading, Pa., Nov. 29.—The differences between the management of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway company and its employees in the coal, freight and yard service have been settled, all the trammels receiving an advance of ten per cent in wages in addition to the adjustment of unequal wages. A number of other concessions have also been granted the men with a view of improving the service. The conferences over these differences had been in progress for a month and were attended by the national officers of the various railroad unions involved.

No Discrimination.
Columbus, O., Nov. 29.—As no evidence was adduced showing that the B. & O. was selling commutation tickets to any one else for travel between Zanesville and Frazier, or between Zanesville and any other point, the State Railway Commission has decided that C. U. Shryock living at Frazier and doing business at Zanesville, has not been discriminated against by the refusal of the railroad company to sell him commutation tickets between those points. There was no evidence in the hearing to show that commutation tickets were sold elsewhere by the company in Ohio.

Clergymen's Rates.
Columbus, O., Nov. 29.—Circulars have been received from the Central Passenger Associations, announcing that for the year 1907 the railroads will extend to clergymen traveling in the Central Passenger Association territory, a rate of two cents a mile, instead of the half fare, heretofore granted them. The present clergymen's rate amounts to practically one and one-half cents per mile, except in Ohio, where the rate was abolished after the two cent rate law went into effect. Clergymen are included in the special list, under the Interstate Commerce law, to whom special concessions may be granted.

Will Relieve Car Famine.
Columbus, O., Nov. 29.—Copies of an agreement, providing for a penalty of $5 for diversion of freight cars, has been received for signatures by the Columbus roads from the hire committee of the American Railway Association. The penalty is to be applied, where cars on foreign lines are loaded for some other foreign line instead of for the home road or some direct connection of the home road. Officials of the Columbus roads will sign the agreement which becomes effective July 1, and it is expected that his will go a long way toward relieving the car famine all over the country. The A. R. A. hire committee is made the arbitration committee for the agreement. It is composed of A. Hale, general superintendent of transportation of the B.
& O.; Charles J. Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and operation of the Union and Southern Pacific, and F. A. Delano, president of the Wabash.

Since the fire of April last San Francisco has been using an old election booth for a morgue. But it will have to get a new one, as a wagon ran into and demolished the temporary morgue
the other day, exposing five dead bodies to the gaze of the passersby.

Madame Sembrich's "Mimi." The at-

by the tenor's friends as a public vin-occupies one of the city's largest almost one hundred clerks and stenographers are required to assist in this great business.

to her. She is a generous soul, and wishes you to have the same relief you women who have never used her medicreeping feelings up the spine, melanccholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, wear-

The Chickenless Chicken Farm

A Thanksgiving Story
By F. A. MITCHEL

[Copyright, 1906, by F. A. Mitchel.]

"I'm glad to hear it, John is a very good young man." "But they will need help. You must do something for them." "What can I do? The farm produces just enough for us to live on."

"You might mortgage it for a small amount, just enough to buy a small place. The Allison farm of six acres is for sale at a very low price. John wants to go into chicken raising, and the property would just do. There is a cottage on it and a few old outhouses."

"But if I mortgage our farm who's to pay interest and provide a sinking fund for the principal?"

"John will do that."

"How?"

"By the profits on chicken raising."

"Suppose there are no profits?"

"Oh, pa, don't be stingy. We have but one daughter. You wouldn't grudge her a few thousand dollars out of all the money this farm's worth, would you?"

"My dear, we began on nothing and have had a hard struggle to get into our present comfortable fix. Let these young people begin as we did."

"And have as hard a time?"

"Better have a hard time when they are young than when they are old. No, I will not mortgage my farm even for Mandy, whom I love as well as you love her. That's settled."

Mrs. Bickford knew by a long experience that when her husband said "That's settled" it was settled. She went away with a sigh and told the youngsters that she had failed. Both mother and daughter voted Mr. Bickford a hard hearted man. John Williams said nothing. He had good pluck, but little or no experience. He went to a bank and arranged for a mortgage for $3,000 on the Allison farm, then bought it for $3,400. He had saved $200 and trusted to luck to raise the other $200 with which to complete the payment. Mrs. Bickford had saved $100 out of pin money and prevailed on her husband to give $100 in lieu of a wedding present, though she did not tell him what use was to be made of it. John and Mandy were married and took possession of their farm. Mr. Bickford was left to find out their ownership of the place by their going into it. They did not deem to mention the matter to him. This was the work of the mother and daughter. John had nothing to do with it.

John worked for the neighboring farmers, intending to save money out of his wages to stock his farm with chickens, but the crops happened to be poor that season, and he got nothing over a bare living. The next season was better, but the baby came, and the coming of a baby always involves extra expense. At the end of two years John had not stocked his chicken farm and had got behind with his interest.

Mrs. Bickford would have appealed to her husband, but from the time Mandy was married the farmer became more economical than ever, and she dared not mention the matter. Besides, she and Mandy had shown their resentment that he had not mortgaged his farm to give the young couple a start, and this was another reason why he was not applied to. However, Mrs. Bickford at this juncture condescended to inform him of the fact that the young couple were in trouble.

The chicken farm, on which as yet there were no chickens, was advertised for sale under foreclosure of mortgage. Then Mrs. Bickford and her daughter, knowing that the older husband and father was cognizant of the fact, yet offered no help, barely spoke to him. The farmer had a hard time of it. His wife, too proud to grumble because he would not come forward with assistance, chose every other subject she could think of to show her spleen. Mandy seldom came to the house when her father was there, and if she met him failed to display any affection for him. John alone treated him with consideration. John learned rapidly by experience and told his wife, as he expressed it in his homely way, that he had "bit off a bigger end than he could chew." He kept his nerve, however, which, considering his youth, was no more than he should have done.

"GOT HIM!"

Then came a season in which the crops on the Bickford farm were larger than they had ever been before. It happened that there was a foreign war, and the price of grain was advanced enormously. When the year's profit was cleaned up the farmer found himself in possession of two average year's income instead of one. The sale of John's chicken farm was coming on, and Mrs. Bickford hoped that, considering her husband's good fortune, he would pay off the mortgage. He did not, and the property was sold.

"Wife," said Farmer Bickford one day in November, "what you going to do about Thanksgiving?"

"Nothing. Nobody but you has anything to be thankful for."

"Well," said the farmer, untruffed, "John and Mandy have had a hard time of it this year. I'm not so mean as to grudge 'em a dinner and a good one. I expect they need it. Invite 'em here for Thanksgiving and get up the best dinner money will buy."

"Suppose they won't come?"

"They'll miss the dinner."

Mrs. Bickford and her daughter felt that they could not willingly sit down to a Thanksgiving dinner with so stingy a husband and father. John urged them to accept, and when he found their resolution fixed not to do so declared that he would dine with his father-in-law without them. Mrs. Bickford prepared the dinner and then went over to her daughter, who was still on the chicken farm, the two intending to have a dinner by themselves.

"Tell him," said Mrs. Bickford to John, "that as all our daughter can afford is tea and toast I shall share it with her."

John set off to his father-in-law's.

He had not been there long before he returned to his house and protested earnestly that his mother-in-law and his wife were acting unwisely and unnaturally.

John was head of his family, and his wife succumbed and consented to go with him. As Mrs. Bickford did not care to remain away alone both went to the Bickford farm and all sat down to table.

"I've chosen Thanksgiving day," said the farmer, "to end a family feud. John's exploit has ended just where I believed it would and has been a failure. Nevertheless from the time he was married I resolved to save what money he would sink, for I knew he would need it in the end. I got together half the amount needed to pay cash for the farm before this last crop was marketed, and now I have the whole. I intended to buy the farm for you, Mandy; but, seeing your husband learns faster than you, I've bought it for him."

He threw on the table a deed to the chicken farm made out to John Williams.

"Why, I thought Lawyer Groat bought the chicken farm," exclaimed Mrs. Bickford.

"So he did—for me."

Mandy sprang into her father's arms. "It wasn't John's fault that he failed," the farmer went on. "It was the fault of his inexperience. I admired his pluck, but determined to let him benefit by the experience. The harvesting of this last crop has been too much for an old man like me, and I'm going to turn over the details of its management to him. But, as I believe no house is big enough for two families, your children are to remain at the chicken farm, using it for a home and nothing more. Does that suit you, John?"

John grasped the farmer's hand, while Mandy clung to his neck. Mrs. Bickford scarcely found room to give her husband a kiss. Then, after a normal condition was attained, they began to discuss the best dinner that money could buy.

Visitors in that region are puzzled at the name "Chicken Farm," given to one of the prettiest places there, since it is nothing like a farm, and there are no chickens on it. Occasionally an inquirer gets the story of how it gained its singular name.

Thanksgiving Dinner On an Airship

"BACK in the fall of 1903," said the skipper of the airship Albatross as he sat puffing his pipe on the roof of the Aerial Navigation company's fifty story building on Broadway, "we were engaged in the arctic-antarctic carrying trade. There being temporarily nothing doing in our line, we had put into Colon to see ex-President Roosevelt, storn and strenuous in spite of his eighty odd years, open the Panama canal. I was standing on the Colon pier watching the 30,000 ton battleship Uncle Sam enter the canal, 'marking the consummation of the most gigantic engineering enterprise in all history,' as the ex-president said in his speech, when a boy in the uniform of the World's Wireless Telegraph company handed me a green envelope labeled 'Rush.' It was a message from our agent at Peary, where the wireless company had an instrument at the north pole capable of transmitting without relay any message to a receiving instrument on top of the south pole. The message read: 'The ice has all melted. It is hotter here than the hinges of hell, and the mosquitoes are biting something fierce. This ought to be good market for immediate consignment of summer supplies, but haste is imperative.' 'Well, when there is money to be made you don't find your Uncle Henry over the city some time before midnight, stopping for an hour over a roof garden, where they had the best glow I ever saw. There was one girl in pink dress, as I was saying, we had good weather and favorable winds, and about daylight we sighted the citadel of Quebec. There our trouble began. Our carburetor was acting cranky, and ten of our thirty-six cylinders went out of commission all at once, and we had to stop the engine for repairs. We drifted to the northwest and hung here is the air all day, monkeying with the machinery and cursing our luck. The first mate pipes up:

John?"

"Skipper, do you realize what day this is?"

"No," says I. "What is it?"

"It's Thanksgiving day," says he. "Puncture my gas bag, matey, if you ain't right," says I, taking a hasty look at my pocket calendar. "What are we going to do about it?"

"I don't know," says he. "We ain't got nothing but hard tack and canned stuff aboard. Of course the canned stuff's all right, now that the whole regular army is on duty at the packing houses, but canned turkey don't seem Thanksgiving-like. Besides, we ain't got any canned turkey, come to think of it—only canned peas and pumpkin."

"Well, I tell you, sir, I was stumped. I never in all my life went over a Thanksgiving without turkey, not even that trip when we was captured by the Chinese air junk. Of course the turkey them air pirates give us was really golden pheasant, but we called it turkey, and it tasted all right. And I knew if the crew ever got on to the fact that it was Thanksgiving and we didn't have anything but hard tack and canned peas and pumpkin to give 'em there would be the worst mutiny since the one on the Pamyat Azova, when the czar tried to make his sailors eat lions. I kept all hands hard at work, so they wouldn't get time to think about the almanac, and we was moseying along slow, no figuring on whether some other skipper would have the pole market for pumpkins oversold before we got there, when suddenly the mate pipes up again, 'Skipper, I've got an idee.'"

"Spit it out," says I, but he never answers, but grabs his spyglass and begins rubbing at something way off our port bow. Then he runs below and comes up with one of them darn automobile 'honk-honks' in his hand. We got that 'honk-honk' in a funny way. We was flying low one day, watching two big machines racing along a country road, when all at once one of 'em blows up and the horn hands right in our ear. Well, the mate leans over the port rail and begins 'honk-honking' like he was dippy. All at once I hear another 'honk-honk' way off, then nearer, then more 'honks' than all the automobiles in four states could make. And what do you think it was? Well, guess. Dern my dynamo, if there wasn't a million wild geese flying toward us in a long 'V' dragging their harrer over the pale moon, as the poet says, only there wasn't any moon, it being broad daylight. I call all hands to the main deck, and we man the rail. Closer and closer come the geese until I begin to get scared that they're going to hit our balloon and puncture us. Just as they get up to us I grab the feller that's leading the 'V' and holler. Everybody grabs a goose and hollers. That scares the rest and off they fly, leaving a bird in every man's hand, which was worth two in the ozone, as the saying is.

"We was drifting northwest all this time, and by the time we had skinned and dressed the geese we was right over some hot springs up in British Columbia. Every man got out a line and tied it around a goose's neck and dropped him into the water. When the geese was cooked we drew 'em up again, and by the everlasting Santos-Dumont, that boiled goose was the tenderest, most succulent meat I ever tasted. What with the canned pumpkin pie, the peas and some wild celery we fished up with our anchor, that Thanksgiving dinner was bang up. Everybody turned in that night full of boiled goose and happier than a Rhode Island clam at high tide. Next morning we got the engine fixed, and two days later we was at the pole. We didn't have any trouble disposing of the panama hats and mosquito netting at fancy prices, for it was better than ever in Peary, and inside of two weeks we was back in New York with a cargo of relics of arctic expeditions, which we sold to the Metropolitan museum for enough to give every one of us six months' land leave."

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ, and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Neutrol's Hairpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It always itching instantly, makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Physicians Threatened--Wedding in Jail on Christmas--Foul Play. Checker Champion.

Dayton, O., Nov. 29.—Doctors Schuster and Gangler, who performed the autopsy upon the body of Dona Gilman, were seen and stated that the chastity of the murdered girl was undeniable. Their report will also show that the assault was most brutal. Their report will declare that her death was caused by strangulation. Both physicians are of the opinion that the girl fainted when the fiend clutched her by the throat, and that she did not even scream. Dr. Gangler, the family physician, says that the death of the sorely stricken mother is but a matter of a short time, as she has a complication of diseases.

TIME IS THE TEST.

The Testimony of Newark People Stand the Test. The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Newark people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

F. Lacey, commission merchant, of 39 South Fourth street, Newark, O., says: "I have had no occasion to use any kidney medicine since 1896, and therefore think more than ever of Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me eight years ago, and I made a statement for publication at that time recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. This statement I will repeat for the benefit of other sufferers from kidney troubles:

"For several years I was distressed and annoyed with pain in the back just over the kidneys, and whenever I stooped or tried to lift anything the trouble became acute. Treatment had failed to bring me relief and at last I laid aside the prescriptions I had been using and went to Crayton's drug store for a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. The use of this remedy proved so effective that my back has been sound ever since I used Doan's Kidney Pills eight years ago. I therefore have no hesitation in recommending them to others."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

FROM TROUSER POCKET OF MR. BUTCHER.

One Dollar Taken From Mrs. Butcher's Pocketbook—Theft Not Reported to Police.

RHEUMATISM

BADLY CRIPPLES A BALDWINVILLE FARMER.

URIC-O QUICKLY CURED HIM. Mr. Frank Howe a prominent farmer of the town of Van Buren, says:—"During a siege of the most painful form of Rheumatism, which lasted two years, I did everything that was possible with the aid of money to find relief. I spent several hundred dollars, and seemed to grow worse instead of better each day. Being on crutches and forced to drive to the train and then hobbling to the doctor's office, became very discouraging, let alone the sleepless nights and the fearful hours of pain. Being advised by a friend to try Uric-O, I purchased a bottle and began its use as directed. In less than 24 hours these fearful sciatic pains left me, my blood seemed to let loose and flow freely, I felt different, and knew at once that I had found a cure, as I slept and rested all that night, something I had not done before in two years. I used in all six bottles of Uric-O, and can truthfully say that I have never felt a return of the disease, and have had no use for crutches or cane since the first day's treatment. I invite all Rheumatics to write me and learn further truth concerning this wonderful remedy."

(Signed) FRANK HOWE. Baldwinville, N. Y., R. F. D. Smith's Specific Uric-O can be obtained from Druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Samples and circulars will be cheerfully sent free by addressing the SMITH DRUG COMPANY, SYRACUSE, N. Y. Uric-O is sold and recommended in Newark by Frank D. Hall, North Side Square.

ABOUT CIGARS.

Collins & Son Tell What Newark Smokers Most Enjoy.

"You would be surprised," said Mr. Collins, of Collins & Son's drug store, "to see the different selections of cigars made in our store in the course of a day, and hear each man's reason for his preference." Continuing he said that the majority of Newark smokers now prefer a Wadsworth Bros.' Chico.

It is a finely flavored, clear Havana filled cigar made from tobacco thoroughly ripened under the rays of the southern sun. The tobacco used in the Chicos is fully matured and seasoned and burns finely and perfectly, with a fine flavor and fragrance. Mr. Collins recommends a cigar with a dark wrapper, as this shows that the tobacco has been fully matured, but whichever color, light or dark, is selected in the Wadsworth Bros.' Chico, he says you will get a good perfect, satisfying cigar, equal to the ordinary ten and fifteen cent values. Nov 27-29-Dec 4
